Art Hotel

Art Hotel is a concept that transcends the conventional hotel, being a living container of contemporary art, where guests don't only stay, but also engage in discovery and are emotionally moved. Ibiza Gran Hotel is home to a sublime collection of art comprised of more than 365 pieces from contemporary international artists, created specifically for the hotel's facilities. A collection of art that's intense, colourful and fresh, which benefits from the diverse range of styles, techniques and formats of the work.

Five elements have inspired a group of contemporary artists to decorate a unique and special place, a symbiosis of architecture and pieces of art. Earth, air, life, water and sky. Each of the five floors alludes to one of these five themes: the first refers to water under the heading "In the Water"; the second floor gets the name "Earth of the Earth"; the third floor targets "Life", and more specifically the Ibizan way of living. On the fourth floor the concept of "Air" dominates the area, and on the fifth and final one, as couldn't be any other way, Sky.

Most of the artists participating in the project have some link to the Mediterranean and in choosing them value has been placed on their sensibility in handling light, nature and life around the sea.

Ibiza
GranHotel

GrandLuxe

The creators who have done work for the hotel are, in general, young artists with a promising career ahead of them, although there is no lack of established artists such as Catalanian Antoni Llena. All of the suites contain two pieces of original and unique artwork. Furthermore, design is evident everywhere: even in the staff uniforms, designed ad-hoc for each one of the areas in an elegant minimalist style. Ibiza Gran Hotel features a contemporary style not only in its artwork, but also in its urban essence, in the way it understands the avant-garde and in the latest trends that are far from fleeting fashion styles.

The latest piece to be included in the lobby of this living museum is called “Fecundació”, an ensemble of natural fibres and copper rods that simulates a dance of eggs and sperm suspended in the air from the fifth floor. This piece comes from the imagination of Mallorca architect Antoni Esteva, as a heartfelt tribute to life from its initial state: the mysterious sense of life, death and fertility.

Another emblem of art with a capital A can be found on the main façade of the hotel, where a mural painting welcomes everyone who looks at, comes up to it, or enters the complex.

This major artistic statement called “Náufragos” was painted by visual artist Nicholas Woods by hand on 45 methacrylate 10mm-thick sheets. From inside the building you can see 5 abstract strips and from the outside you can see a narrative scene that, in the words of the author, “is based on an idyllic vision of a lucky castaway on a beach in Ibiza, combining the natural beauty of its coast with a dose of the island’s Dionysian nocturnal decadence. Some birds move closer through the vegetation, the side of an old lute lies on the sand, bottles of rum...”

Other creators of Ibiza Gran Hotel’s collection live or have lived for long periods of time on the Pityusic Islands, such as American photographer Toni Keeler, who for two decades depicted the contrasts between traditional and local customs of Ibiza with the lifestyle of the foreigners who arrived there.

From the gardens a variety of difference pieces of art can be seen such as the canvas on glass that occupies a surface area of more than 40 m² in the luxurious Open Spa, designed by the artist Miguel Gómez Losada, titled “Papel de arroz”.

Gastronomy

Discover all the restaurant areas that Ibiza Gran Hotel offers for the various occasions and moments of the day: Costa Mara Restaurant, Pool Restaurant and La Gaia.

All of them combine luxury and haute cuisine allowing any guest to add to their experience at Ibiza Gran Hotel with new offerings, whether Mediterranean or signature dishes.

Costa Mara

Costa Mara Restaurant is our most versatile dining area and offers the most spectacular breakfast on the island every morning, a full buffet featuring a health food section, a cheese platter, fresh fruit, freshly squeezed juices, chocolate fondue, pancakes and eggs cooked to order as well as a series of daily specials that includes oysters and champagne, sweet and savoury crêpes, chocolates designed by our master pastry chef, 5J (the equivalent of 5*) Iberian ham...

In all of the sections of the buffet there is the maximum commitment to local sourcing of food and ingredients (km 0), offering a wide range of typical ingredients from the island and the Mediterranean.

Upon entering the restaurant, a host or hostess will show customers to their table, where they'll be served their preferred type of coffee.

In the words of executive chef Óscar Molina, “with the breakfasts at Costa Mara we play with the senses”. On the aromatic level, the artisan oven is started up to set the ambiance; on the visual level, the presentation of the food is carried out with great attention to detail; when dealing with the customers, the highest quality products at that time are recommended and offered.

A wide range of stations classified by food type that make up the five star Gran Luxury breakfast experience. At our drinks station, there are 6 kinds of juice in addition to the traditional juice offering. Furthermore, there's French champagne, a selection of milks, water and 11 different kinds of tea.

At another station cold salads are featured, both traditional ones as well as delicious Caprese salad. Every day in this area there are different specialities like salmon and mango.

There's another station for hot food featuring the foods which make up a typical English breakfast. Here you can find eggs, potatoes and chicken teriyaki among other foods.

At the mixed station, there's an area for a healthy diet, with a Healthy zone where you can find protein rich foods, such as Protein bars, and food grouped together as Real Ginseng, such as Royal Jelly and Ginseng. Those with a sweet tooth have their spot at this table with a selection of sweets and confectionery.

Our cereal station includes a single serve coffee maker, muesli and a fantastic selection of organic cereals. For this part of the buffet there is honey from Ibiza beekeepers and a selection of artisan jams from Ibiza, made in Can Malacosta with the highest quality fresh fruit: figs, strawberries, peaches, nectarines and caramelised onion, giving a sweet natural flavour to the breakfasts at Ibiza Gran Hotel.

The Gluten Free area is a station allowing celiacs to enjoy the best pastries, drinks, sweets and bread completely free of this additive.

There's a final station that changes each day of the week with surprising foods for even the most demanding tastes. Here we find our confectioners making chocolate, yoghurt, a variety of oysters and our new fruit 'spherification': an explosion of citrus flavours and fruit extracts using a molecular cooking technique that represent foods in the shape of spheres with liquid inside, producing a curious and enjoyable sensation in your mouth.

The showcooking station surprises those who enjoy fully personalising their breakfast. The chef prepares any speciality with eggs on the spot, whether the eggs are scrambled, poached or in omelettes. In addition there are also the delicacies of our mobile creperie.

A mark of quality for all the ingredients is found at the Cheese and Delicatessen station, distributed by Rubén Valbuena, where you can find all kinds of cheeses as well as 5J Iberian cured ham with a cutter to cut it right there.

At the end of the hall, there are more than 12 types of bread that are different every day. Let the chef recommend which bread to combine with the food you choose for your breakfast.

Pool Restaurant

Open daily from 12 pm to 8 pm, Pool Restaurant offers delicious dishes, smoothies and cocktails for consumption by the pool or in the restaurant. Recommended for those looking for something light but not any less tasty, far away from etiquette and formalities.

Carefully prepared fresh cuisine is featured on a carefree menu which can be enjoyed in the restaurant or comfortably in the hammocks by the pool.

Heart Ibiza

There is one place on the island of Ibiza where cuisine, music and art blend into a truly unique experience. All of this happens in the Ibiza Gran Hotel complex and in shared space with Casino de Ibiza. We're talking about Heart Ibiza, the project that has united the Adrià brothers and the creator of Cirque du Soleil, Guy Laliberté.

We can define it as a multi-sensory experience to be had in its three areas, you have Terrace, for many Ibiza means fun, leisure and freedom of spirit, and these are the values Heart has drawn inspiration from for the Street Food Roof Party. Up to 12 fixed and mobile stands offer the opportunity to move through the most bohemian experience of each country and enjoy a great view of the city and the port of Ibiza.

Then you also have Supper, the place where the Heart collision can be experienced and you can discover a new way of enjoying gastronomy. Cuisine from around the world, contemporary dancers, dinnerware that's more like sculpture work and the ability to choose between a variety of sweet and savoury food, an authentic trip to a country or culture in an unparalleled mise-en-scène.

Finally, we have the Club, an aural experience combining live music acts with electronic music. Legendary bands, avant-garde electronic music and visual creation in an intimate setting so you can rediscover the Ibizan night and feel the music from the heart.

La Gaia Japeruvian Cuisine

In La Gaia, Ibiza Gran Hotel's most sophisticated endeavour, art, design and haute cuisine combine to offer the ultimate Ibizan dining experience. The culinary display is presented by sushi and ceviche experts who offer show cooking performances for the delight of the diners. The artwork completes the experience at a truly unique restaurant which is a focal point for the island's most fashionable crowd. On the one hand, "Life", a piece by Danish artist Katrin Kirk that features 29 meshed metallic jellyfish that generate a wealth of visual energy through the use of light and shadow. Directly opposite the piece, there's a photography exhibition by North American photographer Tony Keeler, who revisits the hippy culture of Ibiza during the 1970s.

Japeruvian cuisine

Using Nikkei cuisine as a source of inspiration, La Gaia has created Japeruvian cuisine, a style of signature cuisine characterised by a strong personality, sophistication and the fusion of Japanese and Peruvian flavours using state-of-the-art culinary techniques – avant-garde cuisine that represents a culinary journey between two worlds, and all presented in the most select ambiance available on the island.

The ingredients from both countries as well as the best Mediterranean local ones play the main roles, such as local fish, seafood, fruit and honey. The dessert menu is prepared from a blend of ingredients typical from both culinary cultures.

The selection of cocktails based around this culinary fusion is also worthy of mention, as it incorporates typical products the likes of sake and pisco.

This season's offerings once again feature a wealth of new ideas and delectable dishes that will delight even the most discerning palates, providing, of course, they are willing to surrender to sensory pleasure.

The chef: Óscar Molina

Born in Catalonia and Ibiza by adoption, Óscar Molina's first introduction to top-flight cuisine came was given by his father in the kitchens of the Hotel Juan Carlos I in Barcelona. Since then he has accumulated more than 30 years' experience in five-star hotels. He first began to take an interest in the fusion of styles and techniques in the school run by the legendary chef Mey Hofmann, with whom he worked side by side in the Arts Hotel, in Barcelona, and subsequently in the locale that bears her name, Restaurant Hofmann, where he coincided with Michelin star chef Joan Piqué. His career continued in the Eurostar Gran Marina before becoming involved in the opening of the Hotel La Florida. At 26 years old he held the position of executive chef in Casa Fuster for four years. In 2008, Óscar joined forces with Ibiza Gran Hotel when it opened in order to lead a team of more than 50 professionals and produce the brand's full culinary offering, including the Pool Bar Restaurant, the Costa Mara restaurant and its flagship, La Gaia.

On a personal level the master chef describes himself as a humble lover of the professional kitchen who is proud of his achievements and likes things done properly, with passion and spirit.

Óscar Molina is currently considered one of the top chefs in Spain. In 2004 he was the recipient of numerous Spanish and international awards, among them the prestigious 7th National Gastronomy Award (FACYE).

In 2006, with Molina as executive chef, Casa Fuster featured on the top ten list in both Leading Hotels of the World and Virtuoso. He is an opinion leader who plays an active role in Spanish gastronomy and who has also collaborated with restaurants the likes of Nova, La Candela, Rita Blue and Blue Bar.

Creative gastronomy

In the hands of Óscar Molina and his team La Gaia has become a culinary R+D laboratory that, far from creating mere menu items, constitutes a bedrock for ideas that have become catalysts for gastronomic creations that feature a symphony of flavours and surprise the diner in terms of texture, elegance and delicacy.

Rather than relying merely on produce labelled with “appellation of origin”, true quality lies in the master craftsman's ability to bring the product to the fore by designing techniques that seek only perfection, and in which every dish becomes a work of art.

The “kilometre 0” concept in Spain is used to refer to produce that is sourced locally, and in La Gaia this concepts translates into the use of the finest quality raw materials and the utmost consideration for the Slow Food movement. In an ongoing investigation into products and traditions, Óscar Molina creates original takes on traditional dishes by combining ingredients from other continents with Japanese culinary techniques.

On the basis of numerous trips where he has worked alongside other chefs of international renown, he emphasises the need to study and learn about the ingredients that are available in other parts of the world and how they can be employed.

Like his cuisine, the author reinvents himself every season. With a host of new ideas up his sleeve, Óscar Molina returns armed with a series of new techniques from his trips to be employed in his kitchen and an extensive range of recipes that will serve to complete his concept of Japeruvian cuisine and that will be available each season in La Gaia.

Our guests can also collaborate with UNICEF by means of a 3 euro donation which, should they so wish, can be automatically added to their hotel bill and will go directly to funding for the programme.

"Friendly Hotels" is an initiative by the Spanish Committee of UNICEF that aims to combat the sexual exploitation of children at tourist destinations. The project operates in the Dominican Republic where it has increased the protection of children. It is calculated that, directly, more than 145,000 children and adolescents have benefited from the programme, in particular in Puerto Plata, Sosúa, Cabarete, María Trinidad Sánchez, Boca Chica, La Romana, San Pedro de Macorís, Samaná, Bávaro and Punta Cana. The project works due to a broad alliance between the private and public sectors, civil society and academic institutions.

Under the slogan "Today you can change the world while you sleep", UNICEF aims to raise social awareness in our country about the problems affecting childhood and the need to adopt measures to protect millions of children. As such, it takes care of the undertaking actions to get funds which can then be directed to the child protection programme.
